

Pablo Reinoso, Simple Talk. Image courtesy Waddington Custot and Rodrigo Reinoso.

There's going to be an outdoor sculpture trail in Mayfair

Because indoor sculpture trails are very hard to organise

By Eddy Frankel Posted: Monday 28 September 2020, 2:53 pm

ADVERTISING

Have you ever looked at Mayfair and thought 'you know what this needs? A giant, building-size handbag'? Well, prepare for all of your dreams to come true at once because London's fanciest area is getting its own sculpture trail, and one of the main pieces is exactly that: a huge, far-too-big-to-be-practical-let's-be-honest handbag outside Fenwick department store.

Mayfair Sculpture Trail opens on October 1 and will feature a whole bunch of works on the streets and in the arcades of Mayfair for the entire month. Alongside Kalliopi Lemos's handbag, there'll

Privacy

Find Mayfair Sculpture Trail in the neighbourhood from Thursday October 1. Read more here.

Want more outdoor art? Here, have at it.

And then find some indoor art to see right here.

SHARE THE STORY

ADVERTISING

Popular on Time Out

The 50 best Christmas songs of all time

Christmas lights in London

Street food markets staying open during Lockdown 2 in London